

You still make my heart jump,
With just a bit of effort.
Your smile could still break my slumber,
With just a flash!
I still remember dreams,
Bound in puffy clouds,
Bathed in gold and sapphire lights.
You were the best I'll never have.

Your voice could still draw me to the ground,
Your name still my eyes to the sky!
I still remember the nights I spent waiting for you.
The diamond future I wept away.

I still wonder if you know how fast this heart did beat.
I still wonder if you knew the size of these dreams!
I believed I could give you time,
That was so long ago.
I said I would give you space,
Now you're too far to see.
I said I'd just leave you be.
Now your future doesn't involve me.

You were the best I never had,
Perhaps some day you'll realize.
I was the best thing,
You'll never have.
